Dear Friends,

The Greenburgh Nature Center has truly come of age!

The topics of environment, nature education, and sustainability can be found in every day headlines and by-lines, conversations, and vast social media engagements.

In 2013, we were well positioned with our professional staff and volunteers, to play a significant role in serving as community ambassadors for nature education. Proudly and effectively, we strengthened the scope of dialogue and learning for the benefit of our members, visitors, and neighbors.

Our vast selection of programs and classes have always been popular and well attended, and within this successful framework, the Greenburgh Nature Center initiated new programs and events, such as mulching and recycling, teaching trails for environmental education, outdoor art classes, yoga and tai chi, as well as our first annual Farm-to-Table food and wine tasting at our Manor House and our first-ever golf outing! These events extended our relevance and reach, widened our appeal, and raised attendance and participation.

We developed new working partnerships with local businesses and schools, and we will continue this meaningful connection with our local community.

We encourage everyone to reach out to us with your ideas and suggestions, so that we can move forward with vitality and relevance.

The Greenburgh Nature Center would like to thank the Town of Greenburgh for their generous support of our mission, and of course, we wish to express our warmest gratitude to our members and supporters – thank you for your support and participation. WE SUCCEED BECAUSE OF YOU!

Sincerely,

Bennett C. Fradkin

ABOUT US

MISSION
The Greenburgh Nature Center’s mission is to offer inspiring, hands-on environmental education experiences, to foster an appreciation of nature, and to promote sustainable practices.

VALUES
We are committed to advancing informal education that leads to awareness and action. We are dedicated to protecting the legacy and to care for our 33-acre preserve. We believe in developing a dialogue of care around our interconnectedness with the ecosystem.

• 33-acre woodland preserve with trails, a pond, gardens, lawn, and exhibits
• Nature’s Discovery Playground
• Outdoor animal exhibits include a Birds of Prey aviary and a barnyard
• Indoor exhibits include a live animal museum with over 100 specimens, hands-on nature exhibits, changing art exhibits, and a greenhouse with botanical exhibits
• Nature Center Gift Shop
• Year-round classes and programs for all ages
• Camps for children during school holidays and summer months
• Birthday parties available for ages 3 and up
• Special seasonal community events
• Nature and environmental education programs for school groups, scouts, and other groups of all ages and backgrounds
• Volunteer opportunities for all ages and skill levels

PROGRAMS, EVENTS, AND EXHIBITS

PROGRAMS FOR SCHOOLS AND GROUPS

Environmental education continued to be the foundation of our programming at the GNC. A wide range of groups—from pre-school to seniors—enjoyed participating in our programs, either at the Nature Center or at their location. Program themes included Animal Adaptations, Forest Ecology, Sustainability, Recycling, Pond Ecology, and more. We expanded not only the topics covered in our programs but also our physical reach. With an ever deepening relationship with the Village of Irvington, we were contracted to provide nature-related programming at their newly built O’Hara Nature Center. These programs provided a richer level of exposure for the Greenburgh Nature Center within Westchester County.

In addition to serving schools and groups from the local neighborhood, we hosted or visited groups throughout Westchester County and from New York City, Long Island, Rockland County, and Connecticut.

FAMILY, ADULT, AND EARLY CHILDHOOD PROGRAMS

Weekend programming included a wide variety of offerings, from bird walks to composting and sheep shearing. We strived to bring our community relevant and interesting offerings, partnering with children’s book authors, puppeteers, and mushroom experts. We also offered a wide range of adult programs, covering diverse topics in varied formats, including panel discussions with local green business entrepreneurs, movies with environmental themes, and presentations from environmental experts and writers. Our weekday early childhood programs for preschoolers and their parents or caregivers included a mix of nature fun, crafts, stories, and animal presentations.
SPECIAL EVENTS AND EXHIBITS

In addition to our daily programming, we continued to present our popular special events during 2013, including our Maple Sugaring Party, Spring Celebration and Egg Hunts, Summer Music Fest, Fall Festival, and Scarecrows and Pumpkins Parade.

From late June through early August, we presented Walk Among the Butterflies, a reprise of our popular exhibit, which again attracted many visitors who were delighted to enjoy up-close encounters with native butterfly species. This year, the added attraction was locating the exhibit in a hoop house in the meadow, offering a more natural setting.

Another warm weather offering was Storywalk, which kicked off at the end of June and ran through September. Storywalk is a self-guided reading tour designed to entice visitors to explore our forest. This year’s literary offering was the delightful children’s book, Chipmunk at Hollow Tree Lane, written by Victoria Sherrow.

In 2013, we hosted three very diverse art exhibits. In the spring, Stan Rubin exhibited his photographs in a display entitled Painting with a Camera from February through April. Todd Shapera presented landscapes from remote corners of the planet in his exhibit, Distant Landscapes, on display from May through July. In October through November, artist Joan Strier presented her beautiful and varied work, in a variety of mediums, including acrylic, ink, and rice paper (sewn and painted), in an exhibit titled Abstract Expressions in Nature.

In December, we continued our partnership with the Yonkers Model Railroad Club, hosting their popular exhibit Trains, Your Ticket to the Great Outdoors, a special holiday-season show that attracted both young and young-at-heart visitors.

SOME 2013 STATISTICS

- 1,255 programs delivered
- 222 schools/institutions participated
- 21,389 students benefited
- 165 daytime classes offered for the general public
- 65 weekend programs presented
- 36,584 program/class participants
- Over 89,000 people visited the GNC for classes, programs, events, and/or the grounds
- Over 99,000 people served, between on-site and off-site experiences combined
The animal museum continues to thrive and has remained popular with guests of all ages!
ENVIRONMENTAL PROGRAMS AND INITIATIVES

In 2013, the GNC hosted 10 environmental programs in partnership with the Sierra Club Lower Hudson Group, all free and open to the public. Diverse program topics included presentations on: environmental goals of the Westchester County Board of Legislators Committee on Environment & Energy; a report on the Mid-Hudson Regional Sustainability Plan by Greenburgh Town Commissioner of Community Development & Conservation; an update on the new Tappan Zee Bridge Project by Brian Connybeare, Assistant to Governor Cuomo; and a demonstration program on food and yard waste composting for homeowners and schools.

Through the support of the Westchester Community Foundation (WCF), and in partnership with the Southern Westchester Energy Action Consortium (SWEAC) and the cities of Yonkers and New Rochelle, the GNC was contracted to manage a $50,000 matching grant from the Urban Sustainability Directors Network and the Westchester Community Foundation to run educational campaigns for the Love ‘Em & Leave ‘Em leaf mulching initiative in the cities of New Rochelle and Yonkers. In fulfillment of this grant, 13 mulch-mowing programs and demonstrations were conducted between the two cities, and an estimated 400 landscapers and homeowners were introduced to the benefits and techniques of mulch-mowing fall leaves. A high-visibility media and internet campaign was also conducted and can be viewed on www.leleny.org.
As a result of the generosity of Nature Center supporters, we are moving ahead with the restoration of our meadow area. In 2012, SavATree provided both man- and machine-power in an effort to clear a large area of our property adjacent to the visitor parking lot. Originally an apple orchard, and still the home of native box turtles, this section of the property had only one remaining apple tree and had long been overgrown with invasives, which have now been removed.

In 2013, Bill Boyce, Owner and Principal Landscape Architect of Biosphere, helped us begin the area’s transition into a meadow, to be populated with newly planted native species. We also constructed an organic beehive in this area. In addition, we relocated our annual butterfly exhibit to the meadow, kicking off the Center’s goal of making this area a focal part of our educational programming.
FUNDRAISING

In May, the Nature Center hosted its first Farm-to-Table dinner, which brought in local restaurants, bakeries, and wineries in support of our cause. Guests gathered to share a delicious meal as we promoted sustainable practices in our community. Photographer and Pleasantville resident Todd Shapera presented some of his outstanding landscape works featuring ecologically sensitive habitats. Farmer and foodie Josh Viertel, former president of Slow Food USA, spoke about providing greater access to good, clean, and fair food.

The Nature Center also successfully held its First Annual Golf Outing and Reception in September at the Scarsdale Golf Club. The outing grossed almost $50,000 for the Nature Center - our largest fundraiser to date. Through the commitment of our staff, Board members, and volunteers, we secured sponsorships from new business partners, donations of over 40 items for the silent auction, and almost 50 golfers who had a great day of golf. Evening reception attendees had the pleasure of viewing a “Then and Now” exhibit that displayed through maps and photos the changes in the physical landscape of the area.

SUPPORT

The GNC continued to have a broad-based support system which included government funding from the Town of Greenburgh, Westchester County, and New York State; private funding from individual contributions and membership dues; corporate funding, including corporate and foundation grants, matching gift programs, business sponsorships, and in-kind donations; and grounds and building maintenance support from the Town of Greenburgh.

The Town of Greenburgh continued to provide generous funding to support all aspects of our mission as well as important support services to help improve the appearance of the GNC. Continued financial support from the Westchester County Department of Parks, Recreation, and Conservation allowed the Center to conduct nature education programs at a discounted rate for at-risk Westchester school children and also helped to underwrite community weekend events and environmental forums for adults. Funding from New York State included $36,587 as part of the Zoological and Botanical Gardens and Aquarium (ZBGA) program supported the ongoing care of the Center’s living collections, encompassing some 130 live animals and a diversity of plant species.

A generous $20,000 grant from Con Edison enabled the GNC to expand its outdoor trail program, training high school volunteers to conduct free public tours and making the Center’s trails more welcoming for visitors. This newly created program entitled Teaching Trails: A Community Path for Environmental Education has been very popular. We also received a $50,000 matching grant - $25,000 from Westchester Community Foundation and $25,000 from the Urban Sustainability Directors Network - for public education campaigns in Yonkers and New Rochelle. Through a $10,000 grant from St. Faith’s House Foundation, the Center launched place-based educational programming for 4th-6th
Graders at the Bailey School in Greenburgh, encouraging students to become environmental stewards in their school community and beyond. Funding from TD Charitable Foundation supported a new program that introduced high school students to the technology associated with geographic information systems (GIS) and also supported our community events. Additional funding from the Bronx River Parkway Reservation Conservancy, Dobbs Ferry Garden Club, the Geraldine Stutz Trust, Hitachi Foundation, Ruth & Seymour Klein Foundation, the Rotary Club of Hartsdale, and the Rotary Club of Scarsdale supported ongoing environmental education and programming.

We garnered new and continued support from local businesses through sponsorships and in-kind donations. This year’s sponsors included California Pizza Kitchen, Carlos Serrano Photography, Central Animal Hospital, Common Ground Community Concerts, Con Edison, Dilmaghani Corporation, Fairview Golf Center, Green Mountain Energy, Greetings From Anywhere, Gymboree Play & Music, Happy Family, Houlihan Lawrence (Scarsdale), Jake’s Wayback Burgers, Macaroni Kid, Mathnasium, NEA Federal Credit Union, New York Life, Prisco Appliance, SavATree, ShopRite (Scarsdale), Snip-Its (Scarsdale), TD Bank, Upper Cervical Chiropractic, Venture Portraits, Westchester Greenhouses & Farm, WFAS, and Whole Foods Market Westchester.

MEMBERSHIP

Membership dues and personal donations were at a record high and came from our growing base of individual supporters. We continued our efforts toward engaging members by offering free monthly events and member discounts at all of our large weekend programming. Our membership numbers were slightly over 1,000. In total, 39% of our 2013 memberships came from Greenburgh residents, with the remainder coming primarily from other Westchester County locales, as well as from New York City and beyond. Our various membership categories helped to engage visitors and encourage a variety of membership levels. Over 80% of our memberships were Family Memberships (two adults with their children), and another 14% included grandparents with their grandchildren.

SPREADING THE WORD

Relationships with the media continued to be strong and helped us spread the name of the GNC. We were thrilled to be named “Best of Westchester” for our playground and after-school programs by Westchester Magazine and its readers. Through press releases, advertising, guest appearances on local TV and radio stations, and social media, we continued to increase awareness of the GNC. Free programs, appearances at local sponsor, town, and county events, and community forums all helped to introduce the GNC to a wider audience. In addition, Free Family Guest Passes and Children Passes increased visitation to the GNC. These were distributed through various media channels, by our sponsors, and at off-site events. We encouraged everyone who visited us to sign up for e-blasts as well as to join us on Facebook and Twitter, in order to receive the most up-to-date news from the Nature Center.
VOLUNTEER SUPPORT

In 2013, our volunteer program maintained an active core of 52 individuals and seven groups. In addition, over the course of the year, an additional seven groups and numerous individuals volunteered for a total of 340 people who donated their time and energy to the Nature Center. Their contributions were in many different areas:

- administrative (7% of volunteer hours)
- gardens and grounds (17% of volunteer hours)
- animal museum (63% of volunteer hours)
- sustainability (2% of volunteer hours)
- special events and programming (11% of volunteer hours)

High school age volunteers (14 - 18) contributed just over half of all volunteer hours, at 52%, followed by 37% of hours by adults ages 23 and older, 6% by college-age volunteers (19 - 22 years old), and 4% of volunteer hours by people under 14 years of age.
